Library Collections

The library’s emphasis is the literature of clinical and forensic psychology, organizational studies and education. The book, journal, reference, video and audio collections support these curricula. The Fresno library also houses a complete collection of all dissertations completed by Fresno students since its founding in 1972. The library’s online catalog can be searched at the library web page:

library.alliant.edu

Online databases

The Alliant libraries provide access to over 30 online databases, both citation and full text. See the library web page for a complete listing and descriptions. Databases can be searched 24-7 from any computer with Internet access, using your name and 14-digit library barcode as ID and password. Our databases include:

- Business Source Premier
- EBSCO
- Lexis Nexis
- PsycINFO

Circulation policies

You must have an AIU ID card and library barcode in order to use library materials.

Renewing materials

All items with the exception of tests and reserve items can be renewed by phone or by accessing your patron account online at “View your patron record” at the library’s web site. Tests, reserve items and AV materials must be renewed in person. Materials that have already been renewed 2 times or have been requested by another patron cannot be renewed.

Lost or damaged materials

Borrowers will be billed for the replacement cost of each item and a processing fee of $15.00 per item. LINK+ books—$115.00.

Psychological tests

Testing materials that support clinical and forensic assessment classes can be checked out in the library. Protocols (answer and scoring forms) used with testing materials will be provided to each student who is enrolled in an assessment class, at no charge. Protocols cannot be sold or given away. Only Alliant clinical and forensic students and faculty may check out tests. Most tests are reserved for students in assessment classes.

Borrowing from other AIU libraries

Resources from other Alliant Libraries can be requested online by searching the online catalog and “requesting” the item(s). Library staff will notify you via email when your materials have arrived.

Borrowing materials using LINK+

The Alliant libraries have joined with many other California libraries to provide free access to each other’s books. LINK+ can be accessed at the library’s web page. Once determining that no Alliant library has the item, you can make a request through LINK+. Interlibrary loan services

If you are unable to find an item (book, dissertation, journal article) at the Alliant libraries or via LINK+, you can submit an interlibrary loan request. There is no charge for this service.

The Kauffman Library also has a photocopy machine, DVD/monitor, and conference rooms for group study. The library subscribes to many journals most of which are online in full text.
