Sacramento Campus Library

The Sacramento Campus Library is part of Alliant’s “floating” collection, in which physical resources are available to students, faculty and staff at all Alliant campuses. These resources are not available for public use.

Computers are available to score assessments, access the Internet, the Alliant Library Catalog, electronic books and journals, and a variety of Web-based databases, including EBSCO, ProQuest, JSTOR, Mango Languages, and the LINK+ system, which allows borrowing from partner public and academic libraries.

An MLIS librarian is available for database instruction and searching assistance.

A number of tutorials are available at:

Online Resources and 24/7 Access
With your Alliant ID number, you have access to the library databases from anywhere, 24/7. Some platforms, such as EBSCO now offer a web app for smartphones and tablets.

Link+
Link+ is a system of public and academic libraries in California and Nevada who agree to share materials. Link+ can also be used for requesting non-academic materials such as music, movies, fiction and popular magazines.

Mango Languages
Mango Languages is available to all Alliant students, faculty and staff. This multi-level language learning program offers access to 49 languages, as well as English as a second language.

Reference Services
An MLIS Librarian is available for assistance with locating books, articles, other materials and specific citations, as well as formal information instruction.

Information Instruction
Information instruction involves learning how to use your library resources effectively, particularly the proper searching techniques for specific databases. For example, how to access the controlled vocabulary of a database to maximize the quality of results in a search. Information instruction is available on a walk-in basis, in-depth research assistance requires an appointment.

Subscriptions
Cut your personal subscription costs as the Alliant Library gives you access to many professional journals, magazines, and newspapers such as these:

- Los Angeles Times: 2012-Present
- San Francisco Chronicle: 1989-Present
- San Jose Mercury News: 1988-Present
- Wall Street Journal: 1984-Present
- Washington Post: 1977-Present

Dissertation Clearance
Once your final orals are complete, the dissertation clearance process is through the library. We have step-by-step instructions to guide you through uploading your PDF to ProQuest, and what steps to take after your digital document is approved. One hard copy of your dissertation will be added to the Sacramento Campus Library collection, available for check-out to students, faculty and staff.

The library’s review of your dissertation does not include proofreading or editing. We will be checking for how your dissertation conforms to both the APA and Alliant style guides.

The library does not offer proofreading services or academic writing instruction, though we are glad to help you with finding the appropriate resources or with any questions you have related to APA style.
